

Antigovernment Protests in Bulgaria - September 3, 2020

The anti-government protests that started 2 months ago in Bulgaria continue throughout the country. Protesters are calling on Prime Minister Boyko Borisov and his government to resign, arguing that corruption in the country has reached its peak and the government has turned into an "oligarch mafia gang". During the recent demonstrations held in front of the new government building in the capital city of Sofia, there was a clash between protesters and security forces.
