

At Bosnia and Herzegovina has reached a consensus on the formation of the new government

Following the general election in Bosnia and Herzegovina in October 2018, the largest Bosniak, Serbian and Croatian political parties in the country reached a consensus on the formation of the new government. As a result of the compromise, Bosnian Serb Zoran Tegeltija has been appointed to head the Council of Ministers, Bosnia's government.