

At least one person has died overcrowded refugee camp in Greece - September 30, 2019

During a demonstration by a group who wanted to move from the Moria camp, known for its poor conditions on the island of Lesbos, a fire broke out in the container where the refugees stayed. Affected by fire, a woman and child have died and 17 people were slightly injured. Nearly one million refugees crossed from neighbouring Turkey to the Greek islands from 2015 to present.