

The biggest earthquake of the last 30 years in Albania-September 21, 2019

The 5.8-magnitude earthquake in Albania, whose epicenter is 30 kilometers north of the city of Durrës, injured 105 people and damaged more than 600 buildings. Following the first earthquake of 5.8, recorded as the biggest earthquake of the last 30 years, 340 aftershocks occurred, the smallest of which was 2.9.